SWARM COURSE DESCRIPTION

with special reference to learning outcomes

Course description:

Through a fifteen-day stay in the chosen company, students are involved in the process of protection environment, which must be kept a diary of professional practice. Students get acquainted with the organization and documentation of the environmental protection system, technological and work processes, means of work and protection, dangers, harms and burdens at work, risks and measures of preventive protection, training of employees for safe work and plans in case of incidents and accidents at work. Acquired practical experiences are analyzed by students in the study of specialist practice. Realization is monitored by mentors from the school and from the work organization in which the internship takes place.

This is obligatory course, and in total 10 students attend it.
